

Share the Gift of Poetry

Celebrate Poetry month by creating a Poetry Bookmark to share with others. Using the template below, create a colorful bookmark with your favorite poem or an original poem of your own. Don't forget to decorate it! Bookmarks will be collected, laminated and donated to the Arlington Heights Senior Center. Samples may be found in the library.

Please submit your Poetry bookmark to the office by May 1st.

Sponsored by FSA Writing Committee

A Poem Is A Busy Bee

A poem is a busy bee
Buzzing in your head.
His hive is full of hidden thoughts
Waiting to be said.

His honey comes from your ideas
That he makes into rhyme.
He flies around looking for
What goes on in your mind.

When it's time to let him out
To make some poetry,
He gathers up your secret thoughts
And then he sets them free

By Charles Ghigna